INVESTMENT COMMENTARY

The fund performed in line with global equity markets in the month. The global financial markets are still waiting for a recession to take shape following the central banks' aggressive campaigns to contain and lower inflation expectations. While earnings estimates for several consumer-related companies have collapsed, a vast area of the global equity markets has been able to adapt to this unfamiliar environment by substantially raising prices and is finally starting to see input cost pressures easing.

Global inflation numbers continue to be supportive for equity markets, and even the slightest hint of an initial interest rate reduction by central banks would likely boost undervalued and ignored small and midcaps within the consumer cyclical, financial, industrial, and commodity sectors.

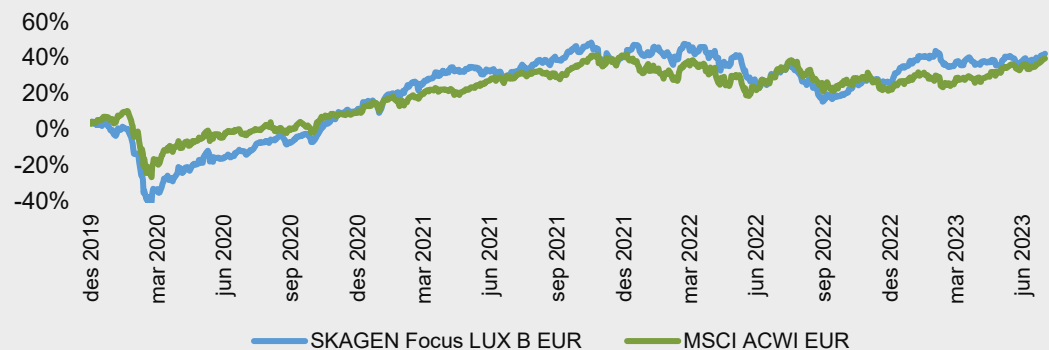

The fund's strongest performing positions in the month included the Japanese regional banks Shiga Bank and Keiyo Bank, which have re-rated on expectations of a normalisation of the yield curve in Japan. Another strong performer in July was Italian cement company Cementir which announced strong earnings and is still trading at a discounted valuation level.

Weaker positions in the month included lumber producers Canfor Corp and Interfor as a temporary strike was announced in their operations. We still believe there is a good potential for normalisation of margins in their respective operations and increased positions into weakness.

During the month we initiated several new positions, including one in Japanese staffing company Pasona, which trades at an exceptional discount to its asset values. Mining machinery company Komatsu left the portfolio as the shares reached our price target. We have reduced our position in Endeavour Mining and increased our position in Japan Post Holdings during the summer.
